

Where to find the Graduation internship agreement & NDA & declaration letter

You are responsible for getting the HAN internship agreement signed by the organisation. Download the appropriate agreement from Brightspace (one version for internships in the Netherlands and another for abroad) and submit the signed agreement to the Internship Administration. HAN ISB only signs the HAN Internship Agreement due to insurance- and protection reasons. Sometimes, three-party contracts from companies are signed, but this might require approval from the legal department, which can take longer. According to Dutch law, higher educational institutions cannot allow two-party contracts.

If the internship company doesn't want to use the internship HAN agreement, they can use their own, as long it's a triparty contract or the Nuffic Agreement. In this case, the student can choose between one of these agreements. The triparti agreement will have to clearly define how the internship will be filled in (working hours/days), what work will be done as part of the internship, etc. For the Nuffic Agreement follow this link:

If the internship company wants to use an employment contract; a triparty internship agreement (or HAN agreement) alongside is necessary. This is because the different agreements entail different rights and obligations and at the same time different expectations. There is a difference between what can be expected from an employee and what can be expected from a student. However, students are not supposed to do the same work as a paid worker and be held ultimately responsible for work!

Remember, the internship company must sign a triparty contract. So, when looking for a company, make sure they can sign either the HAN Internship Agreement or another triparty agreement. If they can't, the student should find a different internship company.

Send the internship agreement before you start with your internship via email to internship-administration.isb@han.nl. Once signed, all parties will receive a copy. Make sure to upload the internship agreement in HandIn together with your portfolio.
